State Farm Teachers View Soil-Saving Work

Twenty-two agricultural teachers of World War veterans viewed one of Jefferson County's projects in erosion control and land use, on the farm of H. W. Stodgill, Middletown, Tuesday morning. The teachers are instructors of agricultural classes in Jefferson, Oldham, Shelby, Trimble, Henry, Spencer and Bullitt counties, where the Federal Soil Conservation Service is preparing future farmers for proper land use to conserve the soil while yielding normal production.

Roy Lee Roman is field man, directing soil conservation practices in this area. With Roman at the Stodgill project demonstration were other state and federal conservationists, including: H. G. Dasher, assistant state conservationist; A. J. Lile, district conservationist, whose office is at Louisville; and J. B. Claypool, state division soil and water resources director, Frankfort. Ernest Threlkeld, district superintendent of the State Department of Education, headed the teacher group attending the demonstration.

The agricultural teachers, escorted by their hosts, and other experts, inspected the phases of conservation work in practice on the Stodgill farm, which is one of the 140 units which have been planned by the district supervisors. Some of the planned practices, which they were privileged to view were: pasture improvement, soil waterways, terraces, fence rows, alfalfa fields and rearrangement of fields to conform to the various land classes.

Pioneer soil conservation work in this county has resulted in favorable comment on the part of other leaders from other sections of the State, observing the results obtained from following a planned program. The teachers observed the soil for future yield, while farming the land for present production.

The agricultural teachers, through their knowledge of the scientific methods of soil conservation, are in position to incorporate in their courses of instruction an outline of information designed to make their students self-sufficient farmers, who not only farm the land but also conserve the natural resources therein for sustenance in the future.

Urges Better Care Of Farm Machinery

A plea for better care of farm machinery is made by Prof. J. B. Kelley, head of the agricultural engineering section of the Kentucky Experiment Station.

"Machinery costs so much and is so necessary in modern farming that it should be given the best of care," said Professor Kelley. "All machinery and equipment should be housed for the winter. Before it is put inside it should be carefully inspected for needed repairs, and new parts ordered and put on before spring."

"All machinery should be cleaned of dirt, trash and excess grease. Cover glow bottoms and other bright parts with grease or other protective materials. Drain gear cases of old oil. Machines with rubber tires should be jacked up to take the load off the tires."

Government Policies Figure In Higher Prices

Prices have risen largely because Americans have more than three times as much money to spend as they had in 1939, and only 70 per cent more goods to purchase, the National Association of Manufacturers has announced on the basis of a new price study.

In other words, the N.A.M. said, the money gap between the amount of money in the public's pockets and the quantity of goods on the store shelves, tends to make prices bid up prices on things they want.

"To prevent further rises in price level, it is essential to close this gap between the money supply and the production of goods by stepping up production, instead of any further expansion in the money supply," the N.A.M. warned. "The important thing is to add more goods to the supply is buying power."

Food prices, the N.A.M. study showed, have been importantly affected by price rises, or increases, in the price of food, the N.A.M. declared.

"The government price-support program would seem to be an effective guarantee to farmers that they will receive a reasonable price for their products, and to the short-term speculator that the price of the stocks he holds cannot fall below a fixed minimum," the N.A.M. declared.

"For example, observers of the wheat market maintain that the government has been withholding unusually large quantities of wheat from the market."

During the year, ended June 30, the N.A.M. said, the Production and Marketing Administration, in the Department of Agriculture, purchased $1,344-million worth of agricultural products, and sold $1,344-million worth of agricultural products, and sold $1,344-million worth of agricultural products, and sold $1,344-million worth of agricultural products.

Under the proposal, Uncle Sam could buy and sell at agreed-upon, fair price—fair to the seller, and fair to the consumer.

Under proposals on exports and transportation of wheat, and its distribution abroad, have been advocated. Some food sent to foreign countries remains undistributed, it is said, thus proving that the need was not immediate.

Uncle Sam is now swamping America this year will bring to us more olive oil which has been both scarce and expensive.

According to the Department of Agriculture, Uncle Sam is asking for 9,000,000 bushels of soybean oil for olive oil in Italy, which system saves money everywhere.

WORLDWIDE BIBLE READING

Thanksgiving to Christmas

Dr. Channing H. Tobias, a member of the Board of Managers of the American Bible Society and director of the Phelps Stokes Fund is solidly behind the Worldwide Bible Reading Program, from Thanksgiving to Christmas, which is sponsored by the Bible Society.

"At no time in the history of the world," Dr. Tobias declares, "has it been so important for people to read the Bible."

The 29-day reading program is a plan to get people all over the world to read the same Bible selections between Thanksgiving (November 27) and December 25. The theme of the program is "One Book, One Day, One Verse."

The Society's program is to have the Bible readings prepared in the form of a small book which will conveniently fit into a Bible, feature Bible selections which bring out very helpful truths concerning the Christmas season.

A National Sponsoring Committee of which President Harry S. Truman is honorary chairman, and to which Dr. Tobias belongs, has been organized for the promotion of the program.

References continued next week.

An initial printing of 18,000,000 copies of the bookmarks, containing the suggested readings, is being distributed by the Bible Society. These selections are also being made by many trade and industrial house organs. The readings find their way into millions of homes, and are being reproduced in the booklets in languages spoken in the countries where they will be used.

The networks will carry to the Nation the significance of this important program and hundreds of local broadcasting stations will feature the reading and the facts about the Bible throughout the 29 days of the celebration.

Enthusiastic endorsement of the Society's reading program is given by church, schools, men's and women's church and fraternal organizations.

Universal Bible Sunday, which falls on December 14, in the middle period of Worldwide Bible Reading, will be observed by thousands of churches and groups throughout the country. The purpose is to climax the encouragement to Bible reading which was launched with the Thanksgiving to Christmas reading program.

MUCH TO BE THANKFUL FOR

With bowed heads and clasped hands in many a household, in this broad land, appropriate Thanksgiving Day prayers went up at dinner tables laden with good food, while in other lands many, doubtless, were ill-nourished, ill-clad, and, perhaps, really starving.

In this Land of the Free and Home of the Brave Thanksgiving Day was variously celebrated. The National Bird, the Turkey, was not on all tables, chiefly because it was too expensive. Some could not pay the 56 to 70 cents the pound, an all-time high, for this area. Chicken, goose and duck took its place. But there was mince pie and pumpkin, and other "ingredients." Even at the Jefferson County jail and the City workhouse there were "extries" on Thanksgiving Day at the dinner tables.

The Pilgrims of old started the annual ceremony. The Puritans and others perpetuated it. The Turkey serving came in the Massachusetts colonies, chiefly because the Turkey was the Wild Turkey—mostly the big bronze Narragansett. The feast of the day in Colonial times was not so much for the food as for the veneration.

It was a long time after Pilgrim days that the United States, as a nation, adopted a set-aside day each year, for observance, as a day of appreciation, prayer, and thanksgiving.

SHALL CO-OPS BE TAXED?

This question, up at Washington before revenue officials, is being threshed out, pro and con, and a decision is expected in the near future. Since the co-operative farm associations are non-profit, as organizations, they have not been taxed by the government. The question as to what extent co-operative buying and profit-sharing is an unfair advantage, affects the general order of business, remains to be determined before any tax is applied.

THE HUNTING SEASON IS HERE AGAIN!!!

Editor, The Jeffersonian: As a landowner of Bullitt County, I have a few remarks to offer regarding some of the people who venture forth to hunt "big game." I say "some," be-

Thursday, November 20, with the hunting season still "wet behind the ears," two men, without permission, appeared on my land with the apparent idea (they had guns) of reducing the life expectancy of wildlife. Because there are many very young quail which have sought sanctuary on my farm. I had left instructions with employees that no one was to hunt the land this year. The two were so advised by a lady who was doing some work for me at my camp building. As to how the men accepted this information may be better explained by stating that almost at once they began firing their guns at her. I repeat this: "Firing their guns at her."

Upon learning of the incident, I called the sheriff who very promptly offered to do everything in his power to bring these men to justice, but unfortunately the day, after being through such an experience (she is under a doctor's care), wasn't in a position to make positive identification, even if she were able to see the men again. My man on the place did manage to copy the license number, and this bit of luck may prove to be just what is needed to locate these men. Believe me, I am hoping that I do find them. I would like to ask other landowners just what their reaction would be if such a thing happened on their place.

The true value of telephone service is much greater than its cost. Many types of concerns depend entirely upon the telephone to secure business. To them it is indispensable—yet the cost is only a few dollars a month. In fact, in all business, the value of telephone service is far greater than the cost.

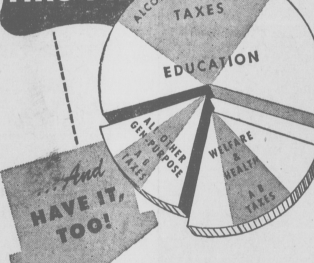

The same is true with respect to the everyday home and social use of the telephone. There are times when just one call alone may be worth the cost of the service for several months. If you kept an account of the trips your telephone saves you each month and of the comfort, protection and pleasure it affords, you would find that the price you pay is much less than the value you receive.

The amount you are asked to pay, however, is never more than enough to pay operating costs plus a return on investment sufficient to enable the Telephone Company to secure from investors the millions of dollars of new money needed for improvement and expansion of the service.

PROOF OF A CHRISTIAN

Lesson for November 28, 1947

SCRIPTURE: 1 John 4-8; 11 John 4:13-13

DEVOTIONAL READING: Romans 8:1-13

Proof of a Christian

Lesson for November 28, 1947

OPEN your Bible to 1 John 4-8; Second John; and Acts 4:1-13, and you will have the Scripture background for Sunday's lesson. Add to the above passages Romans 8:1-13, as devotional reading, and you will be thinking of the unsearchable proofs of a Christian.

Two men are brought before us as examples of Christian discipline. Peter and John had been preaching Christ to the people in Jerusalem, and they were arrested and brought before the Sanhedrin. The rulers and priests scolded them, asking by what power or name they had done this. Peter, filled with the Holy Ghost, answered them:

"Be it known unto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye crucified, whom God raised from the dead, even by him doth this man stand here before you whole. . . . Neither is there salvation in any other; for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved. . . . Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were unlearned and ignorant men, they marvelled; and they took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus."

The Lord Is My Helper

IN HEBREWS 13:6 we find this revealing statement: "The Lord is my helper; I will not fear."

The more we study the words of John in Sunday's lesson—the words that remind us again and again that God is love, and that we love him because he first loved us, that when we love him we are made strong in serving him, the clearer we come to understand the incident in Acts 4:1-13, when Peter and John stood boldly before the Sanhedrin, impressing the court with the fact that they had been with Jesus.

They were not afraid because they were conscious of the presence and power of God. The Psalmist put it sublimely when he said, "The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want."

When We Walk With God

"THE incontestable proof of a Christian is the manner of his life reveals when he walks with God. . . . This is love, that we walk after his commandments. This is the commandment, that, as ye have heard from the beginning, ye should walk in it: John the Baptist, who we walk with God, in the light of his word, what a glory he sheds on our way!"

A group of men sat in the University Club in Boston, discussing religion. Someone asked, "Produce a man named James to define Christianity."

"I will not attempt a definition of Christianity, but I can give you an illustration."

And he pointed to Phillips Brooks. There was no argument. Phillips Brooks was proof positive that Christianity is something vital and practical and real and effective in everyday life.

Who is a Christian? WE COME now to the question which always emerges when we think along this line. Who is a Christian? Look now at 1 John 4:19-21. I quote some of these revealing words:

"Whoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God. And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us, God is love; and he that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God, and God in him."

We are not certified as Christians by any man-made creed, nor by any ritual or ceremony. We are certified as Christians by the direct access which every soul may have with God, through Jesus Christ our Great High Priest forever.

Church membership does not make us Christians. Baptism does not make us Christians.

Anyone may become a Christian, provided he or she is willing to confess their faith, let estate and reputation of all, believe on the Lord Jesus Christ as Saviour and Redeemer, Christ is the Author and the Finisher of our salvation. There is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved.

"Whoever will may come."
